Thousands enjoy trip to steam rally

MORE than 10,000 people turned out to the 15th annual Earls Barton Steam Rally over the bank holiday weekend.

The volunteer-run event was held at Earls Barton showground.

Exhibitors came from across the country to display steam engines dating back from the 1900s, along with miniature steam engines and stationary engines.

Pat Conroy, a member of the Earls Barton Steam Rally committee, said: "We couldn't do this event without all the volunteers who help. We are very grateful to them. It's always a brilliant weekend."

Other events included an auction selling memorabilia, real ale stand, live bands, ferret racing, a Viking display and a vintage vehicle exhibition.

A raffle at the event raised around £400 for the Kidney Research charity. The committee supports a different charity each year and member Arthur Garrigan, who underwent a kidney transplant 12 years ago, chose the cause this year.

Concern at empty shops

THE number of empty shops in Northampton's main shopping street has reached a new high, latest figures have revealed.

Each year, the Mercury's sister newspaper, the Chronicle & Echo, carries out a survey of the town centre to see how many shops are standing empty.

Research this year showed that Abington Street, Northampton's main shopping area, had a total of 16 empty shops, compared to 11 last year.

The figure was the highest recorded for Abington Street since the Chron launched its town centre health check back in 2009.

The leader of Northampton Borough Council, Councillor David Mackintosh (Con, Rectory Farm) admitted having so many empty shops in the town's flagship street was disappointing.

He said: "It's a concern for us whenever any shops are empty in the town centre.

"We work as hard as we can to make sure we do everything we can to keep the town alive and prosperous.

"That is difficult in the current economic climate, but we're doing everything we can."

The figures for Abington Street represented an 18 per cent vacancy rate. Across the entire town centre, the vacancy rate was 15 per cent, with 68 of the town centre's 465 shops standing empty.

Councillor Mackintosh said many of the empty shops in Abington Street were caused by the departure of national stores, such as Game and Julian Graves.

He added: "The national economic situation is obviously being reflected in Northampton, but what we can do is try to encourage more shoppers into Northampton by doing things like reducing car parking charges, which we have already done."

Aside from Abington Street, some other parts of the town performed well in the survey with St Giles Street, the Grosvenor Centre and Market Walk all recording fewer empty shops than last year.

New custody suite is set to open cell doors

THE finishing touches are being made to "the best custody suite in England", before it finally opens its cell doors in three weeks' time.

The £9m state-of-the-art Criminal Justice Centre, in Pavilion Drive, Brackmills, Northampton, comprises 40 custody cells, 10 interview rooms and six consultation suites, along with offices for specialist detectives and interrogation officers.

Testing is now under way inside the centre after the building was handed over by the construction firm.

The custody centre will finally to open on September 19.

Inside the bright, clean, purpose-built centre, experts have designed the building to let in natural light to assist officers, who have previously had to work long shifts in dark, oppressive Victorian-style cells.

The building has been designed with the help of custody workers and following visits to other custody centres across the country.

It features innovations such as shoe cupboards fitted with air extraction units to take away nasty smells and tiles selected specifically because they are hard to daub graffiti on.

The groundwork for an expansion to the custody suite, featuring an additional 20 cells, has already been laid.

Inspector Richard Lewis said completing the building felt like winning a gold medal at the Olympic Games.

He said: "It is not a matter of elation. It is a relief that we have delivered it on time and on budget.

"It is a huge budget and it has taken a long time to do and we have now managed to get past the finish line. So it is a mixture of relief and pride."

Once operational, the centre will provide custody cells for the whole of south and west Northamptonshire, with cells at Campbell Square and Weston Favell stations being replaced.

Insp Lewis added: "We are finishing the last few snags now. We will carry on testing the systems and on September 17 we hope to migrate custody here."

Choir concert cash for campaign

A NORTHAMPTON choir has raised thousands of pounds for the Chron and Macmillan's appeal by staging a charity concert.

The Northampton Male Voice Choir sang with the Glasgow Phoenix Choir at a show held at Northampton School for Girls, in Spinney Hill, in May.

Funds have now been collected from the event, and Barclaycard in Northampton has matched the total, to take the sum to £4,550, which will go towards the Chronicle & Echo and Macmillan Cancer Support's campaign to raise £1.55 million for a new blood cancer unit at Northampton General Hospital.

Choir secretary David Walsh said: "One or two of the men in the choir have connections with people who have cancer and they asked if we would support the appeal.

"It was brilliant, and we are absolutely delighted with how much we raised."

He added: "I think people support the appeal because it's a local charity and the money is going to our own hospital."

The choir has raised around £23,000 in the last two and a half years for different charities.

Mr Walsh added: "We will continue to hold fund-raisers for different charities.

"It was an honour to sing with the Glasgow choir. They are one of the best in Scotland."

The Northampton choir has built up its numbers over the past eight months with 16 new recruits, but the group is still appealing for more members.

For more information about the choir, call Northampton 753789.

Anger after garden flooded

Deep water in Ray Neal's garden came to within three feet of his house after heavy rain last week.

A RESIDENT whose garden was waterlogged after a torrential downpour says town planning officers ignored the flood risk in the area.

In May, permission was granted to build two new homes in a garden in Greenview Drive, Kingsthorpe, despite concerns being expressed by 19 residents who feared the increased possibility of flooding.

The planning commitee voted the application through by six votes to four after hearing that the Environment Agency and Anglian Water did not have any concerns regarding the future drainage of the development.

But, following a torrential rain storm last week, the garden of Ray Neal's house, which is two doors away from where the two new houses are going to be built, suffered flooding.

Mr Neal said he feared the flood risk had been underestimated by the borough council planning committee.

He said: "They did not put enough weight on our concerns.

"The water came up to within three feet of my house. It then flowed into my next door neighbour's house which is one metre lower."

Councillor Tim Hadland, the borough council's cabinet member for regeneration, said the committee had sought expert advice but no objections had been raised by Anglian Water or the Environment Agency.

Cloudy2Clear – A Simple Way To Save Money

Cloudy2Clear Windows, the Northampton based window repair company, are revolutionising how homeowners view double glazing in our area. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as customers take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Trevor Skidmore is more than happy to explain the process. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. I find people are amazed at just how simple the process is and the speed with which we can replace the glass. This isn't like when you have new frames put in with people levering out the old ones with loads of mess. We can pop the old glass out and deliver, effectively, a brand new window within a matter of minutes. At the end of the day most frames, even timber ones, will last forever. It's very rare we come across a window that needs a full replacement and that means the customer gets, effectively, a new window at a fraction of the cost.'

Trevor is rightly proud too of comments he receives back from satisfied customers, a selection of which he has put on his website www.cloudy2clear.co.uk. For example, he recently completed an installation at Mr Miners house in Northampton. Here's what he had to say. 'I have to say that I thought the service Cloudy2Clear offer compared to having completely new windows absolutely incredible value. The service was reliable, simple and without complication. The windows look absolutely brilliant and installation was incredibly quick. Thank you!'

High praise indeed! So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Trevor a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be more than happy to help!

Blue Watch fire crew in their new mess room, which was refurbished by the BBC after they won a 999 award for a hot air balloon rescue Pictured are: Gary Welsh, Rob Clarke and Jack Nichelson.

Firemen put feet up after rescue

FIREFIGHTERS from Northampton were recognised at a new awards ceremony for their work in rescuing three people from a hot air balloon crash.

Northamptonshire County Council's Fire and Rescue Service won a special recognition award at the first-ever BBC 999 Awards last week.

The service's blue watch team, based at the Mounts fire station in Northampton town centre, were commended for a rescue operation carried out in March, when a hot air balloon became trapped in live power lines 45ft above the ground in Bozeat, near Wellingborough.

The crew were called out to the incident at around 6pm on March 25 and the rescue operation took five hours as they waited for the electricity to be turned off before they could help lower the balloon passengers safely to the ground.

Chief fire officer Martyn Emberson said: "I am thrilled that Northamptonshire Fire and Rescue Service has been successful in the first-ever BBC 999 Awards.

"Winning a special recognition award is testament to the commitment and excellence displayed by our firefighters and, in particular, the team involved in this complicated rescue operation.

"These types of incidents don't happen every day, but thanks to a lot of hard work and thorough training, the rescue team ensured that all passengers on the balloon came back down to earth with nothing more than minor flash burns caused at the point of collision with the cables."

As part of the award the mess area at the Mounts fire station, which is used at break times by firefighters, received a secret makeover by the DIY SOS team from BBC1.

Trumpet finale for Owen, 92,

A LOCAL jazz stalwart is preparing to pack away his trumpet for the final time after reaching the ripe old age of 92.

Owen Bryce started playing the trumpet at the age of 11, when his grandfather passed on the instrument to him.

He went on to play in George Webb's Dixielanders, one of post-war Britain's most influential jazz bands, before setting up his own band in his name.

Mr Bryce, who lives in Blisworth, said he was now prepared to call time on his public performances, although he admitted he would continue to practise at home.

Mr Bryce said: "I won't be playing professionally any more.

"I have never been a fully professional musician, but I have decided because I am not getting many jobs my lip is probably not good enough to play in public any more.

"It is inevitable I suppose.

"I am 92 and one assumes you are not going to be playing for ever and ever."

Mr Bryce started playing the trumpet in 1931, when he was just 11.

However, by that time, he had already started playing the piano.

He said: "My father taught me music when I was three years of age and by the time I was five or six I could play reasonably well on the piano.

"I was then left the trumpet by my grandfather. I learned to play it at school and I was in the school orchestra."

Mr Bryce said he would probably still practice the trumpet at least once a day and intended to keep playing the piano.

He said: "Being a musician is like being a writer or a painter, you don't just give up.

"Once you play the piano, you always play the piano, which I shall do."

Minister backs demolition of fish market

THE Government has backed plans to demolish Northampton's Fishmarket building so a new bus station for the town can be built in its place.

Members of Northampton Borough Council's planning committee approved the demolition of the Fishmarket at the beginning of July.

But because the building is in a conservation area, final approval for the development had to be agreed by the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, Eric Pickles (pictured left).

In a letter sent to the council earlier this month, Mr Pickles' department confirmed the minister had given the green light for the development.

The letter said Mr Pickles had made his decision after considering concerns raised by English Heritage about the development.

It said: "The Secretary of State has carefully considered these matters.

"He has considered the effect which demolition would have on the building's surroundings and on the conservation area as a whole, and has taken account of the proposals for redevelopment of the site.

"Overall, the Secretary of State is persuaded that these benefits outweigh the concerns raised on the impact of the works on the conservation area."

The move means demolition work on the Fishmarket site will start in November.

The leader of Northampton Borough Council, Councillor David Mackintosh (Con, Rectory Farm) welcomed the Government's backing of the scheme, particularly as it came at a time when rumours were circulating that the bus station development could be delayed.

He said: "I don't know where these rumours have come from, I even had a few people email me to ask if they were true.

"But there is no truth in the rumours at all. Everything is still going ahead as planned."

It is hoped work to completed the development of the £6.5 million bus station will be finished by November 2013.

£85m campus ready to welcome students

THE £85 million redevelopment of Northampton College's Booth Lane site has been completed with the new campus open to students next month.

Finishing touches are now being made to what has been a four-year building project since planning approval was granted by the West Northamptonshire Development Corporation (WNDC) in October 2008.

The first phase of the building was completed in Easter last year, but the second part of the redevelopment, including a new sports hall, front reception and outdoor courtyard is now finished and ready to be used.

John Bexson, deputy principal of the college, said: "The new first phase of buildings have made a tremendous difference to the student experience and has made them happier with their learning environment."

The new building has been designed to be as energy-efficient and carbon neutral as possible, including energy-saving lighting, a helical wind turbine, solar panels on the roof, a heat recovery system, woodchip biomass boilers and a rainwater harvesting system.

The new building also includes a professional theatre space, dance studios with sprung flooring, car spray booths, and a circular-shaped cafeteria and library.

Sick and disabled children have a ball on trip of a lifetime

A GLITTERING ball held at the home of the Saints raised £22,700 to help send sick children on the holiday of a lifetime.

The money, raised at the event, held at Franklin's Gardens in May, will go to the Dreamflight charity, which organises a holiday for 192 seriously-ill and disabled children to Florida every year.

The event was the brainchild of Northampton businesswoman Kathy Suter, who worked with members of the Goofy Group to make it happen.

Each part of the country has a committee which selects children to go on the trip, and the Goofy Group decides which children from Northampton and the rest of the Midlands, should benefit.

The money was presented to the charity at Franklin's Gardens last Thursday.

More than 300 guests attended the aptly-named Goofy Ball, and the stars of the show were two children who went on the holiday in 2011.

Charlie Murgatroyd, from Leicester, and Lewis Grant, from Northampton, spoke to the guests about their experience of Dreamflight and what the trip had meant to them.

There was also an auction with holidays in the Gambia and Barbados up for grabs, which added £12,000.

Speaking about the trip, Cathryn Chadwick, leader of the Goofy Group, and a paediatrician at Northampton General Hospital, said: "It is an amazing experience.

"We take a really wide range of kids, from those with terminal illnesses to ones who are life-limited.

"It is a trip of a lifetime for them.

"It is a chance to go on a trip where they don't feel like they are the odd one out and we don't make their illness the focus of the trip."

Steven stages surprise with Royal proposal

THE Royal & Derngate provided a special setting for a real-life fairytale when a young couple got engaged backstage.

Steven Eastbury arranged an exclusive tour of the venue for himself and his partner, Callan Edwards, on Thursday, August 16.

The 24-year-old management accountant, from Milton Keynes, popped the question in the venue where the young couple first met, and Callan said "yes".

The pair first met when they both went to the theatre to watch an end-of-year production by University of Northampton students in May 2010.

Steven said: "I spotted Callan in the bar before the production, and she was there with her mum.

"Then, when it came to watching the performance, my friend and I ended up sitting next to her.

"I didn't know it at the time, but at the interval, Callan asked her mum to swap seats because she wanted to sit next to me.

"It was definitely love at first sight for me."

Steven arranged for a private picnic inside the theatre to celebrate his engagement to the 22-year-old actress, who lives in London and is a former acting student at The University of Northampton.

The pair plan to marry in London in the summer of 2014.

Steven said: "The proposal was a total suprise to Callan.

"The theatre was actually closed for maintenance and I had arranged a special tour for us.

"We were in our own little bubble on the day."

He added: "The Royal & Derngate is a really special place for us and is somewhere we do and will always come back to.

"It's where we first met, so it's very important to us."

The couple recently watched at production of musical stage show Avenue Q at the theatre.

Boy, what a moving play

A MOVING play, featuring a star cast, comes to Northampton's Royal & Derngate as the venue's next Made In Northampton production takes to the stage.

Actor Anthony Andrews, best-known from TV series Brideshead Revisited heads the cast in the Made In Northampton co-production of Bully Boy on its Royal stage from tomorrow, before transferring to London.

Written by broadcaster and writer Sandi Toksvig, this thought-provoking drama follows Falklands War veteran, Major Oscar Hadley, who is sent to a combat zone to probe allegations of severe misconduct by Eddie Clark, a young squaddie from Burnley, and part of a self-styled Bully Boy unit of the British army.

As the interrogation develops, the two men bond as they try to come to terms with the horrors they have both experienced at war.

Anthony Andrews, who gained national recognition for his role as the charming, but fatally-flawed Sebastian Flyte in the TV adaptation of Brideshead Revisited, and was most recently seen as Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin in the film The King's Speech, plays the Major, with the role of Eddie taken by Joshua Miles.

Bully Boy is a poignant exploration of post-war trauma, providing an insight both into the minds of soldiers, and into their treatment by society when they return.

It will be directed by David Gilmore and Patrick Sandford.

David Gilmore is artistic director of the new St James Theatre, opening this autumn in central London.

After its run in Northampton, the play will transfer to the St James Theatre, launching its inaugural season.

Internationally-acclaimed director David Gilmore has directed more than a dozen West End productions, including Beyond Reasonable Doubt and The Resistible Rise Of Arturo Ui, and Olivier Award-winning productions of Defending The Caveman and Daisy Pulls It Off, along with the long-running production of the musical Grease.

Patrick Sandford (Bully Boy, Nuffield Theatre Southampton) was winner of TMA Award for Best Director for his productions of The Winter Wife and Much Ado About Nothing at the Nuffield Theatre.

A Royal & Derngate co-production with Lee Dean (following on from recent successes with End Of The Rainbow and Ladies In Lavender), Charles Diamond, Daniel Schumann and St James Theatre, Bully Boy can be seen in Northampton until Saturday, September 15.

Tom plays it straight in new legal drama

IT is not surprising that Tom Conti chuckled when I suggested he might be pigeon-holed as a "comedy dad."

"I have only done two," he laughed, "But I do enjoy working with those girls."

Different generations remember Tom in different parts.

As a 30-something, I think of him as Emily's dad in Friends and the clumsy but good-natured father of the lead character in the sit-com Miranda.

To older women I suspect he is still a sex symbol, particularly given one memorable role he took on as the "holiday affair" in the hit 1980s movie, Shirley Valentine.

The public should consider themselves lucky to see Tom act, as the 70-year-old's original career plans to go into the Air Force were foiled by his mother.

He recalled: "I wanted to be a musician, then I decided to join the Air Force.

"I did not join in the end because my mother did not post my letter.

"She had lived through war and lost family in the First World War."

Tom Conti and Pauline Collins in Shirley Valentine

Bringing his career up to date, Tom's 2012 credits not only include an appearance in the latest Batman movie, The Dark Knight Rises, but next month he will take to the stage at Milton Keynes Theatre as James Highwood in Terence Frisby's courtroom thriller, Rough Justice.

So is he making a sharp turn away from comedy?

Tom, who has also appeared in the TV comedy Parents said: " I have done so much comedy recently it is sort of a relief to be doing something straight.

"It is different, although there is a lot of heart in it.

"Rough Justice isn't a po-faced drama, it is about a man in a terrible quandary.

"The law can work very badly for people, and this man is in a terrible dilemma over a murder charge."

He continued: "There are things I choose to do and they are different all the time.

"You can fall into a romantic lead thing and never be able to dig yourself out."

Looking back on Shirley Valentine, Tom felt the film would be a success even at an early stage.

"Shirley Valentine was all about forgetting who you have married.

"It made people look at each other, people who had been married for 20 years and hadn't realised they had forgotten that lovely girl they had married, who is now their wife, or the young man sitting across the fireside; they had forgotten who they were."

"I knew it was going to be a success when I saw the first scene of Shirley talking to a rock.

"I went along to be supportive as Pauline Collins is a friend of many years.

"The camera started to roll and she started to talk to a rock and I thought 'this is going to be great'."

Rough Justice will run at Milton Keynes Theatre from September 17 to 22.

Honda keeps it real with 4x4

SOMETIMES you wonder why so many car manufacturers get it wrong when designing a compact 4x4. The template for success has already been set by Honda's CR-V.

First launched in 1995, the intervening three generations of this appealing SUV have been uncannily accurate barometers of customer taste.

Yet when rival manufacturers target the market, they go a bit bigger or a bit sportier or add off-road pretensions, and all too often end up with a fundamentally dishonest vehicle that has strayed from the design brief.

Honda is nothing if not realistic about customer requirements, which is why this fourth generation CR-V, now offering more space, efficiency and better quality, doesn't deviate too far from the script that found five million customers around the world.

Why mess with a winning formula?

There are some fundamental changes to this generation CR-V's oily bits. The big one is you can now buy a CR-V in either front or all-wheel drive with the 2.0-litre 155PS i-VTEC petrol engine, while the flagship 2.2-litre 150PS i-DTEC diesel unit continues sending drive to each corner.

Very clever electrically-assisted power steering works in concert with the car's stability control system to initiate counter steering in the event of a skid, so as to prompt the driver to steer in the right direction. Honda believes the majority of CR-Vs sold will continue to be all-wheel drive models, and with a run of bad winters behind us, it's easy to see why.

Hill Descent Control (HDC) makes its debut on the CR-V and is available on automatic versions.

It operates at up to 5mph and helps the CR-V descend difficult terrain safely and consistently.

It's hard to see how Honda can fail with this.

To be honest, not a lot really needed changing.

The engines have been tweaked for better efficiency and, to this eye at least, it looks a good deal better both inside and out.

Otherwise, the recipe is very much the same.

It still only seats five, but moving to a genuinely useful seven-seat body would have meant upsizing this vehicle quite considerably: five million CR-V sales to date indicate that Honda's customers don't want that. Listening to them is what has made this model so successful. Yes, there are more dynamic and exciting SUVs for sale, but in a maturing market place, the CR-V looks set to remain the boss.

*Example based on a 48 month Contract Hire agreement for the model shown, a MINI Cooper Hatch with Pepper Pack and MINI tlc. Deposit £2,699, contract mileage 32,000 and excess mileage charge of 3p per mile. ^MINI tlc provides scheduled service cover for 5 years or 50,000 miles (whichever comes first) at MINI Workshops; maintenance items (e.g. tyres, brake pads and 2nd brake fluid change) not covered; not transferable to another vehicle. Figures are correct at time of publication (August 2012) and are subject to change without notice. Hiring is subject to status and available in the UK only (excl. the Channel Islands). Individuals must be 18 or over. Guarantees and indemnities may be required. Advertised hire facilities provided by MINI Financial Services, Bartley Way, Hook, Hampshire RG27 9UF. Whilst we have close links with MINI Financial Services (MINI FS) and commonly introduce customers to MINI FS, we do not work exclusively with MINI FS. Retail customers only, when ordered between 1 July and 30 September and registered by 31 December 2012.

Thank You

Mrs Rita Eaton

Of Kingsthorpe, Northampton, would like to thank the kind people who cared for her when she collapsed in the bus station Friday, August 17th. To passengers and the security man at the X7 & number 19 bus stop, the paramedics and dedicated staff of A&E and the emergency ward at the General Hospital.
Thank you seems so very inadequate but it was never more sincerely meant.

Jobs

JOBS THAT MAKE EVERYDAY EXTRASPECIAL

Creating a place that older people are happy to call home is what St. Crispin Village, Northampton is all about. We're working to provide the facilities, activities and – in a word – life that helps make retirement enjoyable.

Bank Registered General Nurse

£14.45 per hour

Our primary aim at ExtraCare is to safeguard residents' welfare without compromising their quality of life. If you recognise the challenge, and it's the one you want to meet, you're our kind of nurse. You will be playing a key role in delivering the special, individual care we offer to residents. The challenge is to ensure the highest standards of nursing without compromising individuals' freedom of choice and lifestyle – and the rewards are just as satisfying.

Resident Support Workers

Nights – 20 hours per week – £7.20 – £8.22 + 50p per hour night premium
Bank – Days and Nights – £7.20 – £8.06 per hour

In this role, you will be part of a team helping older people to lead their own lives to the full. Every day is different but the basic aim is to be there to help with the needs of our residents – be it personal care, managing mealtimes or befriending a group of residents as part of your keyworker role. Experience in caring for the elderly or an NVQ Level 2 qualification is preferred but not essential as full training and support will be given.

Closing date: 7 September 2012.

DIGITAL MARKETING ADMINISTRATOR

Our Head Office marketing department is expanding and we have a vacancy for a DIGITAL MARKETING ADMINISTRATOR to provide support to our online team to ensure our web presence and online marketing activity continue to be maximised. Based at our Northampton office, the role will require working with our marketing team to monitor and maintain our use of pay per click and search engine optimisation to ensure our website has maximum impact and visibility. You will be compiling and analysing data and reports to monitor and provide feedback on the effectiveness of our website and online traffic.

You will not necessarily have any previous online marketing experience but you will have great organisational skills and be able to manage your time effectively as you will need to prioritise competing demands on your time. You will be able to use various systems effectively to produce and analyse data and management information, particularly Excel. Your flexible attitude and your willingness to learn will be your most important attributes, as will be your ability to fit into our small but dedicated team.

If you would like to apply for the position, please email your CV to Louise Dunne, Group Marketing Executive: ldunne@perrys.co.uk Closing date for applications is 14th September. Perrys Motor Sales Ltd. Suite1 500 Pavilion Drive, Northampton Business Park, Brackmills, Northampton NN4 7YJ

GOOD IMPRESSION – Rhys Oakley, in action here in the friendly against Leinster, has signed for Saints following a successful trial

Oakley happy to sign for his 'biggest club'

SAINTS new boy Rhys Oakley says it is great to finally sign on at 'the biggest club I've ever been at'.

Oakley has put pen to paper on a permanent deal at Franklin's Gardens after impressing during a trial period.

The 31-year-old announced himself with a solid showing as a replacement against Leinster and then started in the win against Moseley last Thursday before getting more game time against Edinburgh 24 hours later.

That display led Jim Mallinder to say he was eager to sign the No.8 on a permanent basis and the Saints boss has wasted little time in getting his man.

And Oakley, who has two Wales caps to his name and who lists Leeds Carnegie and Bourgoin among his former clubs, couldn't be happier.

He said: "It's great to be at a big club, certainly the biggest club that I've ever been at.

"I'm relishing the chance to do well here. Unfortunately Bourgoin's financial situation meant that things didn't go as well as I wanted in France, but Saints gave me a ring. Things went well and here I am!

"I think I'm coming to Northampton as a more rounded player from my time in France.

"I had to take a lot more onto my own back and become a lot more professional, rather than have it being forced on me, and I had to learn to communicate effectively in a different way.

"I'm glad I got away from the Premiership for a year; it was good to experience a different culture.

"So I feel like I'm here refreshed as a player and ready to make the most of my opportunity. The Saints' style of play suits my game and I hope I'll do well here."

Oakley will compete with Gerrit-Jan van Velze for a starting spot at Saints and Mallinder is pleased to have added an extra level of competition to his squad.

"Quality back rowers are always good to have at the club, and we believe that Rhys can contribute to the squad," said Mallinder.

"Rhys has impressed us over the summer, both in training and in how he has played in the pre-season matches."

IMPRESSED – Jim Mallinder

Aidy is pleased with start

AIDY BOOTHROYD has declared himself pleased with the Cobblers' tally of five points from their first three npower League Two games of the season.

Town opened their league schedule with a 0-0 draw at Rochdale and built on that with a 2-1 win over title favourites Rotherham United.

Two wins almost became three on Saturday against Southend United but Ryan Cresswell scored a last-gasp equaliser to leave Boothroyd's men with just a point from a 3-3 draw.

The manager felt his side were lacklustre throughout that game, which, had his players held on for a win, would have seen them climb to third in the league table.

As it is, they sit ninth, but with a hat-trick of fixtures against sides strongly fancied to be among the division's front-runners out of the way.

League action takes a break this week with Wolves visiting Sixfields on Thursday night in the Capital One Cup.

Forty-eight hours later, Northampton head to Plymouth Argyle looking to build on a start to the campaign that has got the thumbs-up from Boothroyd.

"What it tells me is that we've got a lot of work to do to be where we want to be," he said.

"There are some good teams in this league, some fit teams, some strong teams and some teams with very good players in them.

"We've got to make sure we make every day a good defending day when we play and if we do that then we'll win more games than we lose.

"The pleasing factor is we've played three of the top teams in the division and I guess I would have taken that before the start of the season.

"Like everyone else I get excited when we win games and do well, get through to the next round of a cup but there is still a long way to go and this is just a reminder of that."

Dean Snedker is set to make his second senior appearance for the Cobblers in Thursday night's cup tie with Wolves.

The 17-year-old goalkeeper will deputise for Lee Nicholls, who is not permitted to play under the terms of his loan from Wigan Athletic.

Boothroyd has no fresh injury concerns for the game.
